CERTIFICATE OF EXCELLENCE IN ACCOUNTABILITY REPORTING (CEAR)

PROGRAM GUIDELINES FOR FISCAL YEAR 2024

AGENCY FINANCIAL REPORTS AND PERFORMANCE AND ACCOUNTABILITY REPORTS

INTRODUCTION

Congress and the Executive branch created the Performance and Accountability Report (PAR) to satisfy the reporting requirements of the Reports Consolidation Act, Government Performance and Results Act, Chief Financial Officers Act, Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act, Accountability for Tax Dollars Act, Improper Payments Information Act, and other financial management statutes. Hence, each Federal entity subject to the Chief Financial Officers Act or Accountability for Tax Dollars Act, many components of these entities, and other independent entities prepare a PAR or the more recently defined Agency Financial Report (AFR).

The Certificate of Excellence in Accountability Reporting (CEAR) Program was established by the AGA in 1996, in conjunction with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Chief Financial Officers Council, to further performance and accountability reporting. Specifically, the CEAR Program:

- 1) reviews individual PARs and AFRs and provides recommendations for improving their presentation and usefulness;
- 2) publicly recognizes the entities, and particularly the individuals in the entities that labor tirelessly to prepare the reports; and
- 3) trains the individuals who prepare and review the reports such that they can expand their understanding of the organization and content of other entities' PARs and AFRs and bring this knowledge back to their own entities.

PARs have evolved since the CEAR Program was founded. Their initial purpose was to present to oversight organizations, the public, and others, in a comprehensive and integrated manner, the services the entity is providing, the results it is achieving, what these achievements cost, and how it is managing its resources. A second, no less important purpose was to provide a vehicle and discipline for entities to establish, or at least improve, the processes and procedures needed to obtain and accumulate information, an essential element of transparency and accountability.

Nonetheless, concerns were raised with the PARs. There was a degree of uncertainty regarding the audience for the PARs, which was often reflected in a lack of meaningfulness and/or understandability for the information in the document. The size of many PARs grew to excessive lengths due, in large part, to poor organization, inclusion of unnecessary detail, and redundancy. PARs often lacked candor. Technology was not used effectively to disseminate the information, and the cost and effort associated with producing the documents were high.

As a result, OMB initiated a Pilot Program in FY 2007. The Pilot Program allowed an entity to eliminate the Performance Section from the PAR and instead issue an AFR and Annual Performance Report (APR). Also, all CFO Act entities and all non-CFO Act entities that prepared an AFR and APR rather than a PAR were required to prepare a Summary of Performance and Financial Information (SPFI), previously called the Citizens' Report, to further integrate financial and performance information (although issuance of a SPFI is now optional). The Pilot Program addressed some concerns, but the process is still evolving.

It should be emphasized, therefore, that the major purpose for the reports, other than providing the discipline that assures the entities' accountability, is to enable people to learn about an entity's performance and the linkages between performance and financial information. The designation of the Agency Performance Report as the primary document for comprehensive organizational performance reporting, combined with the elimination of the PAR's Performance Section, does not mean that it is no longer necessary to present performance information in the AFR. With the emphasis on annual performance reporting specified in the Government Performance and Results Act Modernization Act, an AFR's Management's Discussion and Analysis (MD&A) should present sufficient information about the entity's strategic goals and strategic objectives, Agency Priority Goals, and key performance goals and results to enable users to obtain a sense of how the entity is doing. This does not mean more data or more performance measures but rather a comprehensive perspective of how the entity is doing, particularly in relation to prior years and targets.

The CEAR program provides actionable and specific recommendations and serves as a consistent mechanism for entities to improve their PARs, AFRs, and SPFIs. The program also publicly recognizes the dedication and hard work of individuals within the entities who prepare the reports and provides developmental and service opportunities for reviewers who perform in-depth analyses of other entities' PARs, AFRs, and SPFIs and learn how to make their own entities' reports better.

APPLYING FOR THE CEAR PROGRAM

Agencies interested in the submitting their PARs, AFRs, and SPFIs to the CEAR Program for review, will submit the CEAR application form, which can be found on the AGA's web-site under the Standards and Guidance tab, in the Certificate of Excellence in Accountability Reporting link. The application form is due on November 15th. The related documents needed for the review are due to AGA by December 15th, and include:

- A letter signed by your agency's CFO or equivalent requesting that your report be reviewed by the program
- Six printed copies of your AFR/PAR
- Six printed copies of your response to prior year's recommendations (if the agency participated in the prior year)
- Optional – one copy of the Guidelines detailing the pages of your AFR/PAR where the guidelines are addressed.

If applicable, the response to prior year's recommendations should explain how the comment was addressed or explain why a comment was not addressed. In some cases, a prior year recommendation may not be relevant to the current report. Responses such as

“taken into consideration, but not implemented” without explaining the reason for not implementing the comment is likely to be viewed negatively by the reviewers and could indicate a reluctance to make changes that could improve the report.

Completing and submitting a copy of the Guidelines helps the entity ensure it has included each of the appropriate items of information in the report. Identifying the page number on which the item is addressed helps the reviewers readily locate the required items. Indicating the page number of the PAR or AFR—not simply an “x” or the word “yes”—on which the information is presented is encouraged.

CRITERIA FOR THE EVALUATION

The CEAR evaluation process has two major components: specifically, the Guidelines and the Review Team.

The Guidelines - The first component is the CEAR Guidelines.© The Guidelines have been prepared for two purposes. They help an entity prepare a PAR or AFR and SPFI. The Guidelines identify each of the numerous items Congress or OMB require for the reports, with the specific authority identified.<sup>1</sup> They also identify other content that can improve a Report’s usefulness and usability. The latter items have been culled from past practices and thus do not carry an authoritative reference. CEAR Guidelines can also be used to assist CEAR reviewers as well as agency personnel involved in reviewing PARs, AFRs, and SPFIs.

The four sections in the Guidelines, with their component parts, are as follows:

Section I is concerned with both AFRs and PARs.

- Part A addresses the Report’s overall organization and presentation.
- Part B addresses the Agency Head Message.
- Part C addresses the Management’s Discussion and Analysis (MD&A) and how it fulfills what should be the primary purpose of the AFR, specifically to provide a complete yet concise, clear, inviting, and informative overview of how the entity is doing; what it has accomplished, particularly in relation to prior years and targets; and how it is managing its programs and resources. It also serves as a roadmap to the remainder of the AFR or PAR. Hence, the MD&A represents the most important part of the Report and, thus, the portion of the review that receives the most attention.
- Part D addresses the Financial Section, which is composed of a message from the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) (which is optional), the auditors’ report, the financial statements and notes, and Required Supplementary Information (RSI) if applicable. The portion of Part D related to the financial statements and RSI is included primarily for the preparers of the financial statements. Although some reviewers will still evaluate the way the financial information is presented in the financial statements, the CEAR Program relies primarily on the organization auditing the financial statements to assure adherence to the applicable standards and criteria.

<sup>1</sup> Components of CFO Act agencies and independent agencies other than CFO Act agencies are not subject to many of the legislative and administrative reporting requirements applicable to CFO Act agencies. Also, they tend to be smaller and operate a limited number of programs. Hence the reports of other than CFO Act agencies might not and need not include all of the materials required to be reported by a CFO Act entity. Comprehensive coverage for each of the areas to be included in a report would be the primary criterion.

- Part E addresses the Other Information which contains, among other things:
  - a summary by the entity's Inspector General of the entity's most serious management and performance challenges and the entity's progress in addressing the challenges;
  - summary tables of material weaknesses in internal control and system non-conformance;
  - information on payment integrity;
  - the most recent inflationary adjustments to civil monetary penalties required by the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act Improvements Act;
  - a summary of expired, but not closed, Federal grants and cooperative agreements;
  - climate-related financial risk for certain CFO Act agencies, and
  - possibly other information.

Section II is for the Performance and Accountability Reports and addresses the Performance Section included in a PAR but not in an AFR. Thus, it should be used by PAR preparers and reviewers in combination with Section I.

Section III provides guidance for the preparation and/or review of the Summary of Performance and Financial Information, which is an optional report.

Section IV lists the Statements of Federal Financial Accounting Standards issued during this and prior years that will become effective in future years. This information will help preparers ascertain the reporting requirements they will need to meet in subsequent periods.

The Review Team - The second component of the evaluation is a five-person team that evaluates each Report submitted by an entity. The team members possess considerable knowledge and experience in Federal government financial management and/or performance measurement and the reporting of results. While they may not have an in-depth knowledge of the entity, they have a general knowledge of Federal government operations, the subjects covered by the Report, and, at least collectively, a familiarity with the entity submitting the Report, its mission, and its programs.

THE EVALUATION PROCESS

The review team members use the Guidelines to review the Report individually, identify and prepare written recommendations for matters in which they believe the Report could be improved, and decide on their own whether the Report should receive the Certificate of Excellence and possibly a Special Award. During this phase, reviewers should not contact other members of their team. It is important that reviewers perform the reviews on their own, and not be influenced by others.

Once the individuals complete their reviews, the team members will meet as a group; review a compendium of all the recommendations; reach agreement on which recommendations for improvement should be sent to the entity; vote (majority rules) on whether the Certificate of Excellence should be awarded; and consider whether the Report should receive a Special Award.

A separate CEAR Reviewer Submission Form is used by the independent CEAR reviewers to document the results of their review. The Form has two components:

- a. Noteworthy Features, Recommendations, and Special Awards. This section documents the reviewer's overall observations and recommendations for the PAR or AFR and SPFI. Space is provided for the reviewer to 1) identify report sections that could be considered exemplary applications of the Guidelines or materials not addressed by the Guidelines that might be of interest for possible reference by preparers of other entities' reports; 2) provide recommendations to address weak or deficient practices; and 3) suggest whether he or she thinks the report should receive a Special Award, as discussed later in this Introduction in a section titled The Special Awards Component.
- b. Request for Preliminary Vote provides an opportunity for reviewers to furnish their preliminary views on whether the Report(s) should receive a Certificate of Excellence and if not, the major reasons that preclude the Report(s) from receiving a Certificate of Excellence.

The purpose of the CEAR Program is to recognize entities that issue complete, informative, and candid reports<sup>2</sup> and help the entities become even more accountable and transparent. It is not a compliance program. The Review Guidelines are formatted to enable reviewers to consider the overall quality of the report rather than dwell on the presence or absence of the individual elements. This has been done by not asking reviewers to answer "Yes," "No," "Not Applicable," or "Don't Know" for each item.

Instead, reviewers are asked to read the report and use the Guidelines primarily as a reminder of the expected content of a report.<sup>3</sup> In doing so, they should document matters for which the presentation can be improved because the information is unclear, inconsistent, incomplete, too verbose, etc.<sup>4</sup> For each such instance, the reviewer should prepare a recommendation.

<sup>2</sup> Some agencies have elected to no longer issue printed reports and instead make their reports available on the Internet. In those instances, reviewers will be provided a printed copy of the document the entity published on the Internet as of the required issuance date.

<sup>3</sup> Persons reviewing reports issued by components of CFO Act agencies and independent agencies other than CFO Act agencies should consider that these agencies are not subject to many of the legislative and administrative reporting requirements of CFO Act agencies. (See footnote 1.)

<sup>4</sup> Reviewers need not refer to other documents when reviewing a AFR, PAR or SPFI. They will be expected, however, to consider related information in other parts of the Report they are reviewing--and be alert to inconsistencies. Reviewers are also asked to access the AFR, PAR, and SPFI on the entity's web site to assess their level of accessibility. Finally, for certain Guidelines, reviewers will need to refer to performance.gov, paymentintegrity.gov, or other websites to ascertain whether the information required to be posted to those websites has been posted.

Crafting Recommendations for Improvement – Recommendations can and should be organized in the following categories:

- Improve the report presentation or usefulness
- Eliminate reporting or disclosure deficiencies
- Address editorial matters
- Improve the Summary of Performance and Financial Information (if one has been issued and reviewed).

The first category, “Improve the report presentation or usefulness,” is intended to reflect the notion that transparent and accountable reports are not only comprehensive but also candid, particularly regarding conditions and situations that are already widely known, as well as relevant information that is not yet publicized. The reports present negative as well as positive information, and they do not leave readers with unanswered questions.

Identifying the category for which a recommendation is provided is helpful.

More important, the recommendations should identify:

- the deficient/improvable condition,
- the page number of the condition,
- the specific change recommended, and
- the reason why the change would be an improvement.

Recommendations that do not include the above elements are difficult to incorporate into the combined recommendations to be sent to the entity. Section V provides guidance to the reviewer for writing the recommendation as he or she proposes it be presented in the combined recommendations to ensure that the reviewer includes all four of the necessary elements within the recommendation.

One last point. Traditionally, the CEAR program has focused its recommendations to agencies on how to more effectively adhere to the published guidance, including A-136, A-11, GPRA Modernization Act, FMFIA, FFMIA, etc. During the review process, some reviewers also comment on such matters as improving a report’s visual impact, increasing the coverage of matters of public interest, and/or explaining why performance targets were not met. At this point in the evolution of reporting, the CEAR Board believes the AFRs and PARs can become even better communicators of agencies’ accountability and results. Accordingly, reviewers are encouraged to include recommendations that go beyond the aesthetics of the report and focus more on improving the reporting to provide users/readers a comprehensive perspective on how the agency is using its resources to accomplish its mission.

Considering Entity Responsiveness - The most recent letter transmitting the prior year’s recommendations to the agency, the recommendations, and the entity’s response to the recommendations will be given to reviewers for entities that have previously submitted their PAR or AFR for review. The reviewers are to refer to the letters and ascertain whether and how the entity has changed the current year's report (or that the matter to which the comment pertained is not part of the current year's report).

As indicated, performance and accountability reporting and the CEAR Program are evolving. It is important that entities attempt to continuously improve their reporting. An entity that identifies the modification in the report for all applicable prior year CEAR Program's recommendations demonstrates a commitment to continuous improvement. Conversely, not addressing matters identified for suggested improvement could be appropriate in some instances but is likely to be viewed by reviewers as a reluctance to make changes that could improve the report.

Finally, if a reviewer makes a recommendation to address a matter for which there was a recommendation in the prior year that was not adequately addressed and continues to be relevant, he or she should note that as a repeat of the prior year's recommendation, as this too, reflects upon an entity's responsiveness.

Preliminary Decision Regarding Certificate of Excellence and Special Award(s) - Reviewers should make a preliminary decision as to whether the CEAR and/or a Special Award should be awarded. In making the decision, the reviewer should consider the extent to and the manner in which the report does or does not fulfill the following Guidelines criteria, remembering that none of the criteria are absolutes, they are considered collectively, and that the criteria pertain to the entity's reporting, not to its management or performance.

The recommendation of whether a PAR/AFR warrants the "Certificate of Excellence" is a subjective decision and relies upon the professional judgement of each reviewer when evaluating the entirety of the agency's report. Key factors in the reviewer's recommendation include:

- Does the report substantially comply with the technical, statutory, and regulatory requirements for the Reports?
- Does the report use results-oriented performance measures to report accurately and candidly on the entity's performance against its planned performance goals and use of resources?
- Is the report concise, informative, integrated, readable, and inviting to the intended audience?
- Does the report demonstrate coordination among the CFO, Performance Improvement Officer, program offices, offices responsible for performance reporting, and the IG?<sup>5</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Although the existence of coordination would not be ascertainable from a review, certain aspects indicate a lack of coordination. Examples are separate pagination schemes and/or type layouts for the different sections; lack of recognition in one section of problems identified in other sections; redundancy; and lengthy and defensive responses by management to the IG's summary of management and performance challenges.

<sup>7</sup> In unusual circumstances, the CEAR Program may consider reports for a CEAR award when the opinion is not unmodified on one or more statements, if such limitations are the result of legal requirements.

- Does the report reflect an effort and desire to continuously improve the entity's performance and accountability reporting, i.e., there are minimum editorial problems, and the entity is responsive to the prior year's recommendations for improvement?
- Does the agency demonstrate a reasonable level of responsiveness to the prior year's CEAR comments, including rationale for dissent (if applicable)?

There are two mandatory requirements that are necessary for receiving the CEAR. The PAR or AFR is issued by the date prescribed by OMB, specifically November 15, 2024. The auditors' opinion on the financial statements is unmodified as of that date.<sup>7</sup>

The reviewer should then complete the separate CEAR Reviewer Submission Form. The preliminary vote for or against awarding the Certificate of Excellence should be marked. Reasons why a Certificate of Excellence should not be awarded, if that is the case, should be noted. Entities not receiving the Certificate of Excellence will want to know, in addition to the recommendations for improvement, the major reasons why they are not being recognized for the CEAR.

Only the completed CEAR Reviewer Submission Form should be submitted to AGA electronically. The CEAR Program Guidelines document should not be submitted.

Final Decision Regarding Certificate of Excellence and Special Award(s) - The last step is vetting and communicating the results. AGA will combine the outstanding features of the report, recommendations, and special award nominations into a single document and send the document to the Review Team (described on page 4) members. The Review Team will convene to:

- 1) review the combined recommendations and decide which ones should be transmitted to the entity and/or require modification,
- 2) make the final decision as to whether to award the Certificate of Excellence and whether to recommend a Special Award, and
- 3) determine the language that should be included in the transmittal letter to the entity.

Reviewers are expected to participate in this meeting in person or virtually. AGA's staff will prepare the final version of the recommendations and a draft letter transmitting the team's decision and circulate them for approval. Following approval, AGA will send the approved letter and recommendations to the entity.

Reviewers should not identify any review team members to others, even after the final vote. Nor should they discuss the content or results of the review with anyone other than AGA's CEAR Program Manager—Stephanie Brady, who can be reached at sbrady@agacgfm.org or the Review Team's Lead Reviewer.

THE SPECIAL AWARDS COMPONENT

First presented for the FY 2009 reports, Special Awards are an important part of the program. These are Awards above and beyond the Certificate that encourage innovation and improvement in areas important to performance and accountability. A single award will be given in each of a limited number of categories in which a report excelled. An entity generally cannot win more than one Special Award each year, although circumstances may dictate otherwise.

The CEAR program was envisioned to enhance federal accountability reporting by focusing on BOTH financial and mission/performance reporting excellence. Financial accounting and accountability are related. Whereas accounting involves recording and reporting useful financial information and disclosures on an entity to its stakeholders, accountability more broadly involves being answerable, transparent, and responsible for the entity's activities. With commercial entities, accountability information often focuses on financial matters, such as assets, liabilities, and net income. With government entities, accountability information includes financial matters, but it also includes accountability for faithful compliance with relevant laws and regulations, efficiency in operations, stewardship, and performance results of programs and activities.

In prior years, Special Awards have been made in various categories covering components of the AFR/PARs, such as the secretary's message, the performance summary, financial highlights, the forward-looking information, specific informative note disclosures, the IGs report of the most serious management and performance challenges – or overall report aspects such as inspiring photos and captions, interactive features, or the ability of the MD&A to “tell a story.” Identifying such best practices has been very helpful as a resource for other agencies' reference in enhancing their reports.

Given the importance of the MD&A in demonstrating accountability, which includes both financial and mission/performance reporting, for FY 2024 the Special Awards will again include a significant focus on integrated accountability reporting and financial and performance information. While Special Awards may still be made for any area of the AFR/PAR, it is expected that FY 2024 Special Awards will include some or all the following categories:

- Informative introductory material for the agency's mission, organization, and structure
- Innovative presentation of a matter of wide public interest
- Effective presentation of performance in a PAR/AFR
- Conveying performance information in a creative and inspiring way
- Impressive integration of cost and performance data
- Clear and insightful analysis of financial statements
- Clear and concise financial and performance highlights section
- Informative analysis of systems, controls, and legal compliance
- Effective integration of risk (e.g., ERM, internal controls, climate-related risk) into the MD&A

- Outstanding presentation of forward-looking information and future challenges
- Comprehensive or insightful Agency Head or Chief Financial Officer's message
- Excellence in required note disclosures
- Outstanding Inspector General's summary of management and performance challenges, and management's response
- Informative payment integrity disclosures

Reviewers should consider whether the report they review either 1) presents one of the above aspects of the report in such an exemplary manner that it could be considered noteworthy or "Best-in-Class" for that aspect, or 2) contains a truly innovative feature that has not been included in other agencies' reports. They can note the report in Section V of the Guidelines but then must provide a bulleted list of reasons to support that nomination. The bulleted list of reasons is critical for the CEAR Board to make an informed and fair decision. Also, even though an entity can win only one Special Award, reviewers can recommend an entity for a Special Award in as many categories as they believe are appropriate.

The reviewers will discuss the recommendations, and a conclusion will be reached at the review team meeting. The CEAR Board will make the final decisions regarding the Special Awards.

POTENTIAL FUTURE CEAR PROGRAM CHANGES

Given the maturity of the CEAR program, the CEAR Board is reflecting on the program's original intent, results, and potential future enhancements. The CEAR program has helped agencies to strengthen federal accountability reporting by awarding reporting excellence and providing specific recommendations for agencies to improve their reporting. Federal financial reporting has significantly matured over the past few decades. However, mission/performance reporting could be improved, particularly in the integration of financial and performance information. Further, some agencies continue to struggle with providing clear, balanced, and concise reporting (among other attributes that could enhance the understanding and usefulness of their MD&A).

As mentioned on page 1 of these Guidelines, one of the primary purposes of PARs was to present a comprehensive and integrated report on the services the entity is providing, the results it is achieving, what these achievements cost, and how it is managing its resources. While the Annual Performance Report provides comprehensive, detailed performance reporting, the MD&A is required to present organizational performance results compared to broad organizational outcomes, as well as to link costs to performance results. In other words, information about an agency's mission and organization should include performance accomplishments and challenges. Further, the MD&A should explain to users how available resources support performance results. These objectives are contained in SFFAS 15 and OMB Circular A-136 guidance and the CEAR Board continues to closely monitor the FASAB exposure drafts for replacing SFFAS 15, although it is not expected to change the underlying requirement to summarize organizational performance information, including the agency's success in achieving key performance goals for the year, and present high-level goals, objectives and results (including output and outcome measures) and link goals to cost categories or responsibility segments associated with net cost and/or budgetary resources.

The CEAR program was intended to focus on "Accountability" which includes both financial and performance reporting. Therefore, to promote improved mission/performance reporting envisioned by the federal reporting framework, should the CEAR program also evolve to focus more broadly on the mission and performance results envisioned for federal reporting?

This question will be considered by the CEAR Board over the next year or two. For example, the program's primary award could be modified in future years to offer two types of certificates:

- The current certificate award for reporting that demonstrates basic accountability reporting excellence. This basic reporting provides information that is compliant with related federal reporting guidance.
- An advanced certificate award for reporting that demonstrates enhanced accountability reporting excellence. The enhanced reporting would include information that is more than compliant with related federal reporting guidance. Such enhanced reporting could integrate clear, concise, complete, reliable summary mission results, performance information and trends, and required financial information. Such reporting should also demonstrate the availability of timely, reliable financial data for decision-making, which was the vision of the CFO Act.

Such enhanced reporting may also be demonstrated by reporting that:

- integrates cost and mission performance efficiency and/or effectiveness information,
- integrates reliability validation practices and disclosure/assurance information for mission performance information,
- integrates critical risks, management challenges, controls, and related remedial strategies and actions information, and
- illustrates how management uses financial data throughout the year in its decision-making process.

Alternatively, or additionally, more focus could be directed to the Special Awards component to highlight best practices in mission/performance results reporting. For the FY 2022 and FY 2023 CEAR awards, the CEAR Board focused a majority of the Special Awards on the performance results presentations in the AFRs/PARs.

The CEAR Board is interested in your views on this topic and any comments on how the CEAR Program might be adjusted in future years to better promote and inspire improvements to accountability reporting and deliver value to program participants. Comments should be sent to AGA's CEAR Program Manager Stephanie Brady at sbrady@agacgfm.org.

REPORT ELEMENTS NOT TO OVERLOOK

As the CEAR program enters its 28th year, it is important to take stock of what has been learned and to remind ourselves about the intent of the program to recognize excellence in accountability reporting. Most agencies participating in the CEAR program have done so for years and have mastered financial reporting. Performance reporting has grown in importance at a time when trust in government continues to hover at all-time lows. To receive the CEAR Award in the future, agencies need to continue building on this essential element of accountability, never resting on their past laurels. Leading agencies strive to go further each year in reporting on what they have achieved and how they are serving all Americans. Reports should highlight success stories as well as any shortfalls to gain credibility. It is not merely reporting compliance but telling the story clearly and forthrightly, with full context and understanding of the issues that are important to the public and meeting its expectations.

Every agency must “check the compliance boxes” to maintain a clean audit opinion, but the CEAR program is intended to go above and beyond compliance and emphasize more transparent performance reporting that includes excellence in covering the issues highlighted.

Agency Head Message - Many agency head messages describe the agency’s accomplishments without identifying the agency’s mission and strategic goals. Presenting the mission and strategic goals in the agency head’s message would enable the accomplishments to have a context. Further, the message should identify any issues or challenges associated with the mission and the agency’s response thereto, and the results of the auditors’ report. Adding this information would demonstrate the Administrator’s acknowledgment of the issues and audit results and enhance the integration and cohesiveness of the overall report. Nevertheless, we also noted that many agency head messages are long and overwhelmingly positive. While challenging to write, a concise but balanced agency head letter is encouraged.

Performance Reporting - Many reports fail to present narrative or performance measures that help readers assess the relative efficiency and effectiveness of programs and do not discuss the entity’s performance measurement process. A-136 states that the MD&A should summarize organizational performance information, including the agency’s success in achieving key performance goals for the year. Further, the MD&A should summarize organizational performance goals, objectives, and results (including output and outcome measures) and link goals to cost categories or responsibility segments associated with net cost and/or budgetary resources. Adding this required information would increase readers’ understanding of the relationship between performance and costs and how the entity manages and measures program performance.

The following actions should also be considered to improve performance reporting:

- Provide additional context and discussion of each strategic goal and objective and related key performance measures;
- Where data is available, provide more direct alignment between selected performance measures and the performance status;
- For measures/metrics that were not met - identify why those metrics were not met (would provide a more balanced presentation); and
- Provide comparative information on selected performance results.

Enterprise Risk Management – Most agencies discuss the ERM program, required by the July 2016 revisions to OMB Circular A-123, Management’s Responsibility for Enterprise Risk Management and Internal Control. However, improvements could be made to ensure that this discussion is not a restatement of the requirements but rather a more robust description of how ERM is embedded in the agency mission and to highlight the results of having done so. The report should discuss the maturity of ERM and interrelated fraud risk management programs and what has been achieved or remains to be achieved.

Customer Service – Customer service is not always a focal point in annual reports even though the President’s Management Agenda prioritizes this issue, referring to a survey that showed the federal government was in last place out of 100 sectors reviewed. Being forthright about problems and challenges is a mark of excellence. Doing so helps build credibility and understanding, provides opportunities to tell the agency’s story and plans for improvement, and enables agencies to reach out and elicit public comments on its views of the agency’s customer service and overall performance and how specifically it can be improved.

Forward-looking Information – OMB Circular A-136, Section II.2.5 states that “Forward-looking information should reflect entity-specific known and anticipated risks, uncertainties, future events or conditions, and trends that could significantly affect the entity’s future financial position, condition, or operating performance and entity actions that have been planned or taken to address those challenges.” Although most reports present “forward-looking information,” they frequently fail to identify the entity-specific risks, uncertainties, future events or conditions, and trends that are triggering the actions the agency plans to take in ensuing years. Instead, many agencies focus inward on operational and staffing challenges and other short-term initiatives, rather than outwardly focused on emerging issues and risks that can impact program performance and changes to mission delivery. Providing this information would help readers understand the reasons for the planned future actions.

Resolving Audit Findings – Agencies should summarize the planned timeframes for correcting audit weaknesses and instances of non-compliance. Unfortunately, many weaknesses persist year after year, some spanning decades. Rather than say that the agency is making remediation progress (i.e., a general statement), agencies should highlight root causes, short- and long-term actions, and the timeline for such corrective actions. This will improve transparency and provide more accountability for remediation results.

IG Summaries of the Most Serious Management and Performance Challenges – In many Inspectors General (IG) summaries of the most serious management and performance challenges, the IG does not assess the required agency progress in addressing the challenges. This causes management to prepare an extensive description of the steps it has taken and plans to take for each challenge.

- The reader should be able to readily understand management’s position and ongoing and planned actions (including timeframes for completion). The management response should be concise, and any differences/disagreements should be explained.
- Some agencies work with the IG to include within the IG summary a complete assessment of progress, which would enable readers to view the progress as more objective plus avoid conflicts in the report.

Editorial Matters - There are frequent issues with acronyms, typographical issues, rounding errors, and inconsistent fonts/formats. Most reports would benefit from a thorough editing process to:

- Eliminate inconsistencies that could cause reader confusion;
- Use one format consistently throughout the document to increase the report's professional appearance;
- Ensure that acronyms are spelled out when first used (perhaps by report section), then consistently used to improve the readability of the document;
- Resolve rounding errors in statements, tables, and note disclosures; and
- Ensure the report is visually appealing to the public and easy to navigate and read. Leading agencies continue to do so, and every year, we see impressive improvements. However, there can be a wide variance between agency reports.

A leading practice is to have a cold reader, who has a high level of technical knowledge, perform a final review of the AFR/PAR before publication. Also, agencies should review the document after uploading it to the agency website to ensure that formatting is consistent with the published document in its final form.

Responsiveness to Prior Year CEAR Comments – Agencies should ensure that comments to prior year AGA CEAR recommendations are responsive, and if a recommendation is not implemented, sufficient detail should be provided to explain the reasons why. The reviewers of reports under the CEAR programs make recommendations to improve reporting. Leading agencies respect the value of these recommendations and welcome the opportunity to improve reporting.

Agencies are also encouraged to submit a crosswalk of the CEAR Guidelines to the AFR/PAR.

Finally, be a student of the possible by reading other agencies' AFRs and PARs for leading practices. It is commendable how far the reports have come in providing accountability and transparency to the American public. Agencies should review reports that are awarded "best practice" recognition each year and the reasons cited by the CEAR Board for awarding that special recognition (these are highlighted on AGA's website under the CEAR Guidance link). Not every agency will be the same but look for leading practices that would be most applicable to your agency and that represent excellence. Avoid just plugging in new numbers and new examples each year without seeking new ways of presenting information that addresses comments by the CEAR program. Strive to raise the bar each year.

1.	A Guideline has been added for significant entities with programs that are “high priority” for payment integrity purposes. These entities are encouraged to specify in the MD&A which programs are high priority and to provide a link to payment integrity information reported in the Other Information section or on PaymentAccuracy.gov. (A-136)	Guideline I.C.2
2.	The Financial Statement COVID note is no longer required; thus that Guideline has been removed . However, the MD&A should discuss the financial impact on the entity, if material to FY 2024, regarding the Government’s response to the coronavirus disease. The agency has flexibility to determine what should be included in this discussion. Therefore, the Guideline regarding COVID discussions in the MD&A has been modified . (A-136)	Guideline I.C.12
3.	The Guideline has been modified regarding providing forward-looking information on efforts taken or planned to assess, measure, and mitigate the entity’s financial risks related to climate change. Specifically, entities are encouraged to organize the information using the framework in Section II.4.10.3, addressing governance, strategy, risk management, and metrics. (A-136)	Guideline I.C.28
4.	A Guideline has been added to require liabilities for Federal employee salary, leave, and benefits payable to be reported in a separate line on the Balance Sheet and includes salaries, wages, funded and unfunded annual leave, sick leave, the employers portion of payroll taxes and benefits. Immaterial amounts may be reported in Other Liabilities. Previously, most of these balances were included in the prior line item Federal Employee and Veterans Benefits Payable. Also, as a result of this new Balance Sheet line item, the former line item is now referred to as Pension, Post-Employment, and Veterans Benefits Payable. (A-136) (Note – unfunded annual leave previously reported in Other Liabilities should be reclassified to this line item for the prior year, if material, and referenced as a change in presentation in Note 1.)	Guideline I.D.III.B.17
5.	With implementation of SFFAS 54, Leases, in FY 2024, various changes to Guidelines have been made throughout the document. In particular, the Guidelines for lease note disclosures have been re-written to address the new requirements for lessees on recording non-intragovernmental lease assets and liabilities, and on disclosing intragovernmental lease activities, as well as disclosures for lessors. (A-136)	Guideline I.D.III.I.28 (Primarily)

6.	A Guideline has been added regarding additional disclosures for deferred maintenance and repairs. For FY 2024, significant entities are encouraged (and for FY 2025, significant entities will be required) to: (1) describe their method for estimating deferred maintenance and repairs and how inflation in labor and materials costs is used to annually adjust the estimates and (2) report the minimum maintenance and repair amount needed to ensure that mission critical facilities remain mission capable. (A-136, affects Required Supplementary Information)	Guideline I.D.III.J.4
7.	A Guideline has been modified related to Payment Integrity. All agencies that report improper payments as part of the Annual Data Call under Phase 2 of OMB M-21-19 are to provide in their AFR or PAR a summary of their payment integrity activities and results. (In FY 2023 this was encouraged, but not required.) The summary should include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In plain language, a description of improper payments made by the agency; an estimate of the improper payment amount and rate; an explanation of the causes of improper payments; and any major actions taken or planned to mitigate those causes.</li> <li>• An explanation for changes in payment integrity methodologies, activities, or results that occurred during the reporting period.</li> <li>• A hyperlink for PaymentAccuracy.gov and should not be in conflict with data that is available on PaymentAccuracy.gov as PaymentAccuracy.gov is intended to be the complete source for all qualitative and quantitative payment integrity information, including contextual information.</li> </ul> (A-136, affects Other Information)	Guideline I.E.8
8.	The Guidelines have been modified to indicate that agencies should disclose the results of the Biennial Review of User Fees as Other Information. Agencies are required to conduct a biennial review of fees, royalties, rents and other charges imposed by the entity for services and things of value it provides and any recommendations on revising those charges. (Previously, the wording for this requirement was “may” rather than “should”.) (A-136, affects Other Information)	Guideline I.E.10

9.	The Guidelines have been modified for Other Information reporting of climate-related financial risks to limit the disclosures to certain CFO Act agencies, rather than to all significant agencies. (A-136, affects Other Information)	I.E.13
10.	A Guideline has been added for significant reporting entities and components to report, as Other Information, all agency-specific legislative provisions enacted in the prior year or current year that address agency-specific financial accounting, reporting, or auditing issues. This is to inform report users of any legislation that affected the entity's ability to prepare its AFR/PAR or affected its audit opinion. Such disclosures must include (1) the name of the act containing the provision, (2) the complete public law citation and a hyperlink, and (3) and explanation of the purpose of the legislation. (A-136)	I.E.15
11.	A Guideline has been added for significant entities, indicating that they may, at management's discretion, list the entity's trading partners with which the entity has material transactions or balances, if such information would be useful to AFR/PAR users. For each partner, entities may explain the nature of the exchanges with the partner and provide, for example, the revenue, expenses, or capitalized purchases with the trading partner during the year and the cumulative amount due from or to the partner at the end of the year. If presented, this information may be included as Other Information or as a note to the financial statements. (A-136)	I.E.16

1	The information in the MD&A may be organized in any manner that management determines would be beneficial to users. There is no requirement that the information be presented in sections that correspond to each type of required information. The topics within the MD&A should contain section titles that would be meaningful to the report.
2	The MD&amp;A should be balanced (presenting positive and negative results), integrated, concise, and understandable. Information on risk, including both financial risk and risk to the agency’s achievement of its goals and objectives, should be discussed in the MD&amp;A. Risk could be addressed in a separate section of the MD&amp;A or discussed throughout the MD&amp;A sections, as appropriate. Significant entities with programs that are “high priority” for payment integrity purposes are encouraged to specify in the MD&amp;A which programs are high priority (and what that designation means) and to provide a link to payment integrity information reported in the Other Information section or on PaymentAccuracy.gov.	A-136, Section II.2.1

4.	The MD&A should reflect a joint effort of the CFO, Performance Improvement Officer (PIO), program offices, and offices responsible for performance reporting,
5.	The MD&A should summarize the mission and organizational structure of the reporting entity (including any consolidation or disclosure entities under SFFAS 47), and the entity’s major programs (as defined by management and consistent with the Statement of Net Cost). In addition, the MD&A should summarize organizational performance information, including the agency’s success in achieving key performance goals for the year.	A-136, Section II.2.2
6.	The MD&A should summarize organizational performance goals, objectives, and results (including output and outcome measures) and link goals to cost categories or responsibility segments associated with net cost and/or budgetary resources, as appropriate.	A-136, Section II.2.2

<sup>7</sup> Preparers should also refer to Statement of Federal Financial Accounting Concepts No. 3 Management’s Discussion and Analysis, as well as Statement of Federal Financial Accounting Standard No. 15 Management’s Discussion and Analysis, for a narrative discussion of what should be included in an effective MD&A.

7.	A description of the entity's performance measurement process is helpful for understanding how the entity manages and measures program performance.
8.	The performance discussion should include narrative or performance measures that help the reader assess the relative costs, efficiency, or cost-effectiveness of programs.
9.	The performance information appearing throughout the report should be consistent. Measures related to reported achievements of success should be consistent with reports of the successes.
10.	Agencies producing an AFR should state when and where the APR will be available.	A-136, Section II.2.2
11.	The MD&amp;A should provide an integrated summary of the entity's financial results, position, and condition and performance, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Significant changes, which include (1) changes in excess of 10 percent that are material to the agency's financial statements; (2) changes in excess of 10 percent and $10 billion, and (3) changes in excess of $50 billion (regardless of percentage change). Factors to consider in identifying significant changes include likely public or congressional interest in the change and historical trends in the amount. (Note – for significant entities, these significant changes are also expected to be discussed in the financial statement note disclosures in more detail than presented in the MD&amp;A. The MD&amp;A can summarize and cross-reference key notes discussing these significant changes.)</li> <li>b. purpose, source, and type of significant budgetary resources, including any significant supplemental appropriations, and the relationship between any significant fees collected and the cost of goods or services provided; and</li> <li>c. financial management issues arising during the reporting period and key entity-specific risks to financial performance, position, or condition and actions taken or planned to mitigate those risks.</li> </ul>	A-136, Section II.2.3
12.	The MD&A should continue the FY 2023 discussion of the financial impact on the entity, if material in FY 2024, of the Federal Government's response to coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19).	A-136, Section II.2.3

A-136, Section II.2.3
15.	Charts and graphs should be used to present the significant balances and major changes from prior years.
16.	Graphics should be used to improve the understanding of complex financing streams.
17.	The financial amounts in the MD&A should be consistent with amounts in the financial statements.
18.	The MD&amp;A should state the limitations of the financial statements using the following or similar language: The financial statements are prepared to report the financial position, financial condition, and results of operations, consistent with the requirements of 31 U.S.C. § 3515(b). The statements are prepared from records of the Federal entity in accordance with Federal GAAP and the formats prescribed by OMB. Reports used to monitor and control budgetary resources are prepared from the same records. Users of the statements are advised that the statements are for a component of the U.S. Government.	A-136, Section II.2.3
19.	The MD&amp;A must summarize: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. the agency's financial management systems, including systems critical to financial reporting and financial control;</li> <li>b. the agency's financial management systems improvement strategy; and</li> <li>c. efforts to maintain compliance with applicable laws.</li> </ul>	A-136, Section II.2.4

20.	The section should provide management's assurances related to the FMFIA and the FFMIA in a single statement or two separate statements in a section labeled "Analysis of Systems, Control, and Legal Compliance."	A-136, Section II.2.4

23.	Corrective action plans for FMFIA material weaknesses, including target dates for completion, should accompany the statement of assurance or be included in Other Information.
24.	Financial management systems that are not in substantial compliance with FFMIA must be identified, along with the remediation activities planned or underway, the target dates for remediation, and the offices responsible for bringing systems into compliance.	A-136, Section II.2.4
25.	The corrective action plans and remediation activities should indicate whether the entity is on target to achieve the projected target dates or slippage has occurred from target dates reported in the prior year's report; and if the latter, the reasons for the slippage and how the slippage shall be offset.
26.	In instances where management does not include in the assurance statement findings disclosed in the auditors' report, management should explain why it does not agree and must describe how the disagreement will be addressed.	A-136, Section II.2.4
27.	If there has been a previous assertion of an unmodified opinion on previously issued financial statements and an error in the financial statements required a restatement, the MD&A should discuss the events that caused the restatement and the nature of the error, including the amount(s) of the material misstatement(s), the effect(s) on the previously issued financial statements, and actions taken after discovering the misstatement.	A-136, Section II.2.4

28.	The MD&amp;A should present forward-looking information reflecting entity-specific known and anticipated risks, uncertainties, future events or conditions, and trends that could significantly affect the entity's future financial position, condition, or operating performance. Entity actions that have been planned or taken to address those challenges should be discussed. Forward-looking information may be discussed throughout the MD&amp;A (if it is integrated into the MD&amp;A as a whole) or in a separate section. For significant entities, the forward-looking information should include the efforts taken or planned to assess, measure, and mitigate any significant climate-related risks that could affect the entity's performance, financial position, or financial condition, including risks to assets (such as property, plant, and equipment, and loan portfolios); liabilities (including loan guarantee liabilities); contingent liabilities, and program costs. Entities are encouraged to organize the information using the framework in Section II.4.10.3, addressing governance, strategy, risk management, and metrics.	A-136, Section II.2.5
29.	The reasons for the unique risks, uncertainties, future events, conditions, or trends should be presented to provide context for the actions planned or already taken.

PART D – FINANCIAL SECTION
I. CFO Letter <sup>8</sup>
1.	The AFR may include a letter from the entity's CFO that briefly summarizes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. plans (including time frames) for correcting audit weaknesses<sup>9</sup> and instances of noncompliance;</li> <li>b. any impediments to such plans;</li> <li>c. progress made in addressing previously reported audit weaknesses and instances of noncompliance.</li> </ul>	A-136, Section II.1.1
2.	If included, the letter should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. present other important financial management information such as the entity's significant financial management accomplishments; the status of the entity's financial management systems in terms of their ability to provide the services and information needed for conducting the entity's programs; any significant changes underway to improve this ability; etc.</li> <li>b. identify the results of the audit;</li> <li>c. be dated; and</li> <li>d. be signed.</li> </ul>

<sup>9</sup> The absence of specificity in the Circular as to whether "audit weaknesses" are to be limited to material weaknesses or to also encompass significant deficiencies, which are the terms used in the auditors' reports, might result in some CFO letters addressing only the former and some addressing both the former and the latter. The latter is encouraged, although not required.

II. Auditors' Reports
1.	If the Report includes a memorandum from the IG transmitting the auditors' reports, the transmittal letter should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. identify the audit requirements and objectives;</li> <li>b. state the audit results, referencing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. the opinion on the financial statements;</li> <li>ii. whether the entity had effective<sup>10</sup> internal control over financial reporting (including safeguarding assets) and compliance with laws and other matters;</li> <li>iii. whether the entity's financial management systems substantially complied<sup>11</sup> with the requirements of FFMIA;</li> <li>iv. reportable non-compliance with provisions of laws tested or other matters; and</li> <li>v. other significant matters identified by the auditors.</li> </ul> </li> <li>c. indicate the degree of responsibility the IG is taking for the auditors' work, i.e.: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. no assurance (IG did not review auditors' work); or</li> <li>ii. negative assurance on compliance with GAGAS (IG reviewed auditors' work and review disclosed no instances where auditors did not comply, in all material respects, with GAGAS.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	GAO/CIGIE Financial Audit Manual 670.21 & 670B
2.	Final AFRs/PARs should be posted to the agency website by close of business on November 15, 2024. Therefore, because the auditors' report must be included in the AFR/PAR, the auditors' reports should be dated November 15, 2024, or prior.	A-136, Section I.5

<sup>10</sup> If the auditor did not provide an opinion on internal control over financial reporting, this statement can be changed to state that there were no material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting, and a definition of material weakness can be provided in a footnote).

<sup>11</sup> If the auditor did not provide an opinion (i.e., did not give positive assurance) on whether the entity's systems substantially complied with the requirements of FFMIA, the statement can be changed to state there were no instances in which the entity's financial management systems did not substantially comply, i.e., negative assurance is provided.

II. Auditors' Reports
3.	The auditors' report on the financial statements may be 1) combined with the reports on internal control over financial reporting and compliance with laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements; or 2) separate from the reports on internal control over financial reporting and compliance with laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, in which Government Auditing Standards requires a reference to those reports.	OMB Bulletin 24-01, Audit Requirements for Federal Financial Statements (OMB Bulletin 24-01), para 7.1
4.	The auditors' report(s) must state that the audit was conducted in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and the provisions of OMB Bulletin 24-01, unless the auditor is also giving an opinion on internal control. (If an auditor is giving both an opinion on the financial statements and an opinion on internal control, the OMB Audit Bulletin does not provide additional requirements; thus, referring only to Government Auditing Standards is appropriate.)	OMB Bulletin 24-01, para 7.2
5.	The auditors' report on the financial statements must include an opinion as to whether the reporting entity's basic statements are fairly presented in all material respects in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, unless the auditor concludes that, based on the audit evidence obtained, the financial statements as a whole are materially misstated or the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence to conclude that the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement.<sup>12</sup> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. If the auditor concludes that the misstatements, individually or in the aggregate, are material but not pervasive to the financial statements, or is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence on which to base the opinion but concludes that the possible effects on the financial statements of undetected misstatements, if any, could be material but not pervasive, the auditor should express a modified opinion.</li> <li>b. If the auditor concludes that the misstatements, individually or in the aggregate, are both material and pervasive to the financial statements, the auditor should express an adverse opinion.</li> <li>c. If the auditor is unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence on which to base an opinion and concludes that the possible effects on the financial statements of undetected misstatements, if any, could be both material and pervasive, the auditor should disclaim an opinion.</li> </ul>	OMB Bulletin 24-01, para. 7.3 and 7.4

6.	The auditors' report on the financial statements may include an emphasis-of-matter paragraph if the auditor considers it necessary to draw users' attention to a matter appropriately presented or disclosed in the financial statements that, using professional judgment, is of such importance that it is fundamental to users' understanding of the financial statements.	OMB Bulletin 24-01, para 7.5
7.	The auditors' report may include an "other matter" paragraph if the auditor considers it necessary to draw users' attention to any other matter other than those appropriately presented or disclosed in the financial statements that, using professional judgment, is of such importance that it is fundamental to users' understanding of the financial statements, such as certain situations related to prior period financial statements that have been audited by a predecessor auditor or have not been audited.	OMB Bulletin 24-01, para 7.6
8.	When there is a restatement of previously issued financial statements to correct a material misstatement, the auditors must include certain information in an emphasis-of-matter paragraph in the reissued or updated auditors' report on the restated financial statement(s), as indicated in AU-C 560, 700, 705, 706, and 708, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. a statement disclosing that a previously-issued financial statement(s) has been restated for the correction of a material misstatement in the respective period;</li> <li>b. a statement that the previously-issued financial statement(s) was materially misstated and that the previously-issued auditors' report (including report date) is withdrawn and replaced by the auditors' report on the restated financial statement(s), and change in the audit opinion;</li> <li>c. a reference to the note(s) to the financial statements that discusses the restatement; and</li> <li>d. if applicable, a reference to the report on internal control over financial reporting containing a discussion of any significant internal control deficiency identified by the auditor as having failed to prevent or detect the misstatement and what action management has taken to address the deficiency.</li> </ul>	OMB Bulletin 24-01, para 7.7
